

HealthPost's Natural Health Scholarship

Interested in a career in natural health?

HealthPost, New Zealand's favourite online supplier of natural health, skincare and household products has a fantastic opportunity for someone studying in the field of Naturopathy, Homeopathy, Medicine or other natural health science. Having been involved in the industry for over 25 years, we know that natural health products and philosophies make a vital difference to the lives of many people, and we're keen to promote and encourage these wherever possible.

The HealthPost Natural Health Scholarship will be awarded to someone who truly believes in and is passionate about natural health, and who shares our principles and values around empathy, integrity and accessibility, and environmental, cultural and ethical sustainability. The lucky recipient will receive a $500 scholarship plus a day with a HealthPost Naturopath. This is a unique opportunity to further your knowledge and gain valuable insights into real world natural health applications. Who wouldn't want that on their resume!

How to apply

In 300 words or less tell us why you are passionate about natural health. Send your application along with your name, email address and phone number plus the name of the institution you're studying at and the name of your course to scholarship@healthpost.co.nz before the 30th of July 2017.
